1 AFTERNOON SESSION, WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 6, 2019 2:27 P.M.

2 THE COURT: This is a status conference in the 3 opioid MDL. I want to discuss with everyone what the next 4 steps are. I solicited proposals, recommendations, which 5 I've received and reviewed.

6 Obviously, and not surprisingly, the parties' counsel 7 took a different view over how to proceed, and we never 8 would get agreement on exactly how to proceed, but I wanted 9 to start off by talking about some principles that I hope we 10 can agree on. And if we can agree on those, that will sort 11 of dictate where we go.

12 First and foremost, we have to change the paradigm.
13 Over the last year we've spent tens of millions of dollars 14 in attorneys' fees and expenses. Huge expenditures of 15 special master time, which the parties have paid for, and 16 judicial resources, which the taxpayers have paid for.

17 We went up to the brink of trial and then we had what 18 I'll call a one-off settlement, which that's what we had.
19 It's great for Cuyahoga and Summit County. And we also have 20 one global settlement that's being hotly disputed in 21 bankruptcy court.

22 This model isn't sustainable. If I want to use a 23 biblical model, I'd have to be Methuselah and live a 24 thousands years, and do this one year at a time, that being 25 facetious. So we can't keep doing it that way.

1 So it seems to me that I hope we can all agree on the 2 following principles: That the Court should facilitate 3 global settlements when all parties are willing to negotiate 4 one. If the parties don't want to, the parties don't have 5 to.

6 So it takes the plaintiffs, it takes the state AGs -- 7 by plaintiffs, I mean the cities and counties, the 8 plaintiffs in my MDL cases -- and at least one defendant.
9 It could be more defendants, but at least one. All right?
10 The Court doesn't force any settlements, but it's my job to 11 facilitate them if all parties want them.

12 Then we need to prepare and, if necessary, try a small 13 number of focused streamlined cases. And by focused, I mean 14 cases that are just manufacturers, just distributors, just 15 pharmacies, with one or two legal theories that can be tried 16 in my view in about a month. And the results should inform 17 everyone on the strengths and weaknesses of the plaintiffs'
18 cases and the strengths and weaknesses of the defendants' 19 cases, and how certain experts play out in front of a jury, 20 and certain documents, whatever, which should inform 21 everyone on going forward.

22 And in the event the plaintiffs would win, the damage 23 and/or abatement award could be informative. That's if and 24 only if they would win. That should be a reasonable 25 principle we all should agree on.

1 And the third one I hope we can all agree is that we 2 need to effectively utilize my resources and the resources 3 of my team, which is the three special masters and their 4 assistants.

5 So does anyone have a disagreement with any of those 6 what I'll call general principles? If so, I'd like to hear
7 your disagreement. (Pause.)

8 All right. By everyone's silence, I'm going to take 9 silence as being agreement with those three principles. I 10 mean, if someone has a disagreement, I want to hear from it.
11 I put these out, I thought they would be generally 12 applicable, but I may be wrong.

13 MR. SOLOW: Your Honor, Andrew Solow on behalf 14 of the manufacturers.

15 To be clear, Your Honor, in concept, the second 16 principle about streamlined cases must come with caveats.
17 As set forth in our paper, the position paper of the 18 manufacturers and distributors, we do not believe it's 19 appropriate to sever cases either by defendants or causes of 20 action. So to the extent you are looking for us to consent 21 to that, we do not. We've laid down our objection to that, 22 and we stand by it.

23 THE COURT: What is your objection?

24 MR. SOLOW: We don't believe it's proper at 25 any point in the case for the plaintiffs to choose to only

1 proceed against certain defendants or on certain causes of 2 action, and leave those remaining defendants or causes of 3 action for a future time.

4 If they want to streamline the case by dismissing 5 defendants or causes of action with prejudice, that's how 6 you proceed. But we don't think it's appropriate for a 7 plaintiff to bring a lawsuit, for example, and say we're 8 going to try the nuisance case cause of action and we're 9 just going to let the remaining causes of action sit around.

10 THE COURT: The causes of action, you proceed 11 on causes of action; if they're dropped, they're dropped.
12 All right? I agree with you. We're not going to say go 13 against McKesson first on public nuisance and then next 14 month you go against McKesson on conspiracy. No one is 15 suggesting that.

16 But are you saying that if there are hypothetically 25
17 defendants, all right, then you either have a trial with all 18 25 defendants or you don't have a trial at all?

19 MR. SOLOW: Your Honor, our position is set 20 forth in our papers, is that --

21 THE COURT: I'm asking you that.

22 MR. SOLOW: And I'm answering, Your Honor -- 23 is severance should be only considered after discovery is 24 completed. It is prejudicial for parties to be sidelined 25 and not participate in discovery, pretrial motion practice,

1 and then at a later time be stuck with a case that they did 2 not participate in.

3 So we think if a severance decision is going to happen
4 about defendants, not causes of action as Your Honor has 5 conceded, that's a decision that should not be made up front 6 at the beginning portion of a case.

7 THE COURT: Well, no one would be stuck with a
8 case if you hadn't participated. If there was a 9 trial -- just say, all right, just say there are ten 10 defendants, and the Court says it's unmanageable, unworkable 11 to try ten cases, to try against ten defendants, so we're 12 doing five. Okay?

13 We try that five, and then if at some future point the 14 other five are tried, they'd start again. You'd have new 15 discovery. There wouldn't have been discovery against those 16 five, those five wouldn't have had discovery against the 17 plaintiffs.

18 Obviously the documents are the documents, but you 19 wouldn't have to try a case with no discovery.

20 Well, all right.

21 MR. SOLOW: We made our position clear, Your 22 Honor.

23 MR. STOFFELMAYR: Your Honor, may I raise one 24 point briefly? Kaspar Stoffelmayr, liaison counsel for the 25 pharmacy defendants, but I don't want to pretend I speak on 1 behalf of everybody.

2 But you know, I understand the practical issues with 3 trying to try a case with 25 defendants, obviously, but 4 there's a real concern that's been expressed by a lot of 5 people, I think, that if you start so sort of gerrymander 6 the group of defendants, it doesn't serve much purpose for 7 bellwether anymore. Because if you think of the idea behind 8 a bellwether trial is you can't try 2,600 cases, we'll try a 9 handful to get a better understanding of what would happen 10 if we tried all 2,600, the other ones.

11 But if we try cases that don't look anything like the 12 other 2,600 because we've gerrymandered the groups of 13 defendants or the claims, the result of a trial that 14 involved only three distributors or only five pharmacies or 15 only 12 pharmacies, depending on the jurisdiction, everyone 16 is going to look at that and say, well, that's nice, but 17 that doesn't tell me anything about what would happen if you 18 tried the case of Ingham County, Michigan, as they actually 19 pled it against 25 defendants.

20 I understand you're going to say --

21 THE COURT: The problem is when I did that, 22 Mr. Stoffelmayr, the response from the defendants are the 23 trial will take at least eight months. All right?

24 So it's nice in theory, but it's not in practice. So 25 we cannot try 25 defendants, and you know that.

1 MR. STOFFELMAYR: Correct. And I think the 2 problem here is that the cases have been over-pled against 3 way too many defendants.

4 THE COURT: Maybe so.

5 MR. STOFFELMAYR: And that remains the case.

6 THE COURT: But the principle is you can't 7 try -- like Summit and Cuyahoga County started at 22
8 defendants, I believe, or families, I'll call 22 defendants 9 with maybe 8 or 10 claims, it was unworkable, unwieldy, 10 unmanageable. By the time we were ready for trial it was a 11 manageable case, but again, that model of how it was done is 12 not sustainable.

13 MR. STOFFELMAYR: But I think to answer your 14 question you started with, does anyone see a problem with 15 this, my problem the problem that certainly some people have 16 expressed, and I don't pretend to speak for everybody, is 17 that as a bellwether process it's not very interesting and 18 not very helpful.

19 THE COURT: Well, the problem is we can't try 20 the kind of cases that the plaintiffs have brought, so 21 that's not an option. I mean that's what we started with in 22 Summit and Cuyahoga County, 22 defendants and 8 or 10 23 claims, and the defendants said the trial is going to take 24 eight months. So I said no jury can focus for eight months, 25 no Court has eight months.

1 So there was no disagreement on those principles, and 2 so I hear what you're saying, but I don't see any other way
3 to do bellwethers unless they are structured and focused.
4 And it seems to me also that it has the advantage of 5 simplicity, the jury can really focus on, all right, do the 6 plaintiffs have a case against the manufacturers.

7 Here is their argument: The manufacturers
8 aggressively marketed these pills as being safe, effective, 9 nonaddictive, when they knew they weren't. Can they prove 10 it, or they can't. It's a simple principle. Plaintiffs say 11 we can prove that, defendants say you can't.

12 Well, let's see. With the distributors it is pretty 13 simple: The distributors didn't do a good enough job in 14 making sure the pills went only to those people who should 15 have gotten them. Plaintiffs say we can show their 16 suspicious order monitoring systems were ineffective, and 17 the distributors knew it. The distributors are going to say 18 our systems were as good as we could make them, and they 19 complied with the law.

20 All right? Again, it's simple to say that. See what 21 a jury says with that. Okay? So you know, I want cases 22 that juries can understand so that no one can say, well, 23 we're going to ignore this result because this was such a 24 mish-mash, no one could make sense of it. That doesn't help 25 anyone.

1 MS. MAINIGI: Your Honor --

2 THE COURT: Yes.

3 MS. MAINIGI: Excuse me. Enu Mainigi on 4 behalf of Cardinal Health.

5 I'd like to join in the objections to the basic 6 principles Your Honor has articulated to the extent they're 7 inconsistent with the proposed statement or proposed plan 8 that we have filed.

9 Let me touch on a different issue.

10 THE COURT: Let's stick with -- I don't 11 understand, Ms. Mainigi, what you're -- everyone wrote a 12 whole lot of different things. Okay? So if you're 13 saying you agree with Mr. Stoffelmayr, you want to go back 14 to 22 defendants and 10 claims.

15 MS. MAINIGI: I'd like to discuss a different 16 principle you'd raised, Your Honor.

17 THE COURT: Well, let's stick with one. I'm a 18 simple-minded person, I want to stick with this one. All 19 right?

20 MS. MAINIGI: Okay. With respect to that 21 one --

22 THE COURT: Because that's the only one I have 23 heard objections to. No one objected to the Court ought to 24 facilitate settlements when everyone is willing, and we 25 should effectively utilize my resources and the special

1 masters. The only objection I'm hearing is to the second 2 one.

3 MS. MAINIGI: Your Honor, that's incorrect. I
4 have an objection at least on behalf of Cardinal, I think 5 it's joined by the other distributors at the very least, to 6 the principle of effectively utilizing the resources of the 7 team to the extent that is inconsistent with the hub and 8 spoke concept that has been articulated by Special Master 9 McGovern to the parties over a period of the last six 10 months.

11 Our position is as our papers reflect, that the cases 12 that are under consideration at this point should be 13 remanded to the transferor court, and ultimately leave it up 14 to the transferor court to make a determination as to 15 whether and what assistance may still be needed.

16 But these cases Your Honor has done a tremendous job, 17 and Special Master Cohen has done a tremendous job of 18 overseeing general discovery in this matter for all of the 19 defendants. The time has come for case-specific discovery 20 to occur, and it is our view that that ought to occur in the 21 transferor court in the particular jurisdiction.

22 THE COURT: Well, that's not inconsistent. I
23 didn't say that principle number three was that I was going 24 to do everything. Obviously, I can't. I can't, I can't do 25 everything. So I want to focus on are you objecting to if

1 cases are structured or remanded that they be focused? You 2 want to go back to the 22 defendants and 10 causes of 3 action?

4 MS. MAINIGI: Your Honor, I do think that that 5 issue is an appropriate issue for the transferor judge to 6 take up. I completely understand the concerns you are 7 articulating in terms of the unwieldiness, but I think the 8 proper way to deal with that is as was suggested before me, 9 for discovery to occur in front of the transferor court, and 10 then decisions related to any sort of severance or dropping 11 of claims or defendants can be made.

12 THE COURT: Well, I hear what you're saying, 13 and that is a way to do it, but I think it would be very 14 unfair for me to ask any other judge in the country to go 15 through what I've gone through over the past year, unless 16 you're proposing that you want to pay for a whole raft of 17 special masters at the same rate, maybe different ones, to 18 do everything that my three have done and taken all that 19 time.

20 And even then, I don't think I would ask any other 21 judge to do that.

22 MS. MAINIGI: Your Honor, I think that the 23 difficulty here is in part the premise that we've all been 24 discussing separately with the special masters. The hub and 25 spoke involved as its basic core, as its basic premise, the

1 idea that the time would come when we were having these 2 discussions for remand back to the transferor court.

3 If there are a handful of cases spread out among a 4 handful of judges, I actually don't think it will be 5 unwieldy for those courts and judges to deal with those 6 particular issues.

7 THE COURT: Do you have any idea what I've 8 been doing the last year?

9 MS. MAINIGI: Your Honor, you have done a 10 tremen- --

11 THE COURT: This has been unworkable,
12 unmanageable. It was a miracle we got this case to the eve 13 of trial.

14 MS. MAINIGI: I agree, Your Honor.

15 THE COURT: So I'm not going to roll the dice
16 or ask anyone else to roll the dice that way. That isn't 17 happening. Okay? You want that? You know, it isn't going 18 to happen. I hear your objection, it's overruled.

19 MS. McCLURE: Your Honor, Shannon McClure. On 20 behalf of my client AmerisourceBergen, I join in the other 21 objections.

22 THE COURT: Fine. You want to join? That's 23 overruled, too.

24 MS. McCLURE: Okay, fine. Your Honor --

25 THE COURT: This is going nowhere fast.

1 MS. McCLURE: Your Honor, I also object to the 2 fact that --

3 THE COURT: Object to what you want, file it
4 in writing.

5 MS. McCLURE: Your Honor, you've requested
6 objections. Would you like me to articulate the objections?

7 THE COURT: All right.

8 MS. McCLURE: Thank you, Your Honor.

9 To the extent you've articulated that silence is a 10 non-objection, we object to that point. You've laid out 11 three principles for the first time today in court.
12 Obviously none of us have had the opportunity to discuss 13 them with our clients.

14 Second of all, to the extent that trying a case in 15 approximately a month is a realistic goal, given the 16 complexity even of the claims if you reduce them to one or 17 two and have plaintiffs dismiss with prejudice the other 18 ones, may be unrealistic.

19 Third of all, to the extent that RICO claims are tried 20 which involve conspiracies that are alleged among groups of 21 defendants, that cross-groups of defendants, trying those 22 separately is obviously prejudicial and not workable.

23 And fifth, I think that I would like the record to 24 reflect that objections articulated for one are taken for 25 the purposes of this to be objections for all so that we

1 don't have to sit here and memorialize our joinder.

2 MR. WEINBERGER: Your Honor, on behalf of the 3 plaintiffs, can we address a couple of these comments?

4 THE COURT: Sure. This is going nowhere fast.
5 I'll just have to come up with it all myself. I'm sorry I 6 brought everyone in here, but go ahead.

7 MR. WEINBERGER: I harken back to a couple of 8 hearings before that we had before we proceeded to trial and 9 settled that case, and that is that I was skeptical of the 10 possibility of both sides coming to some agreement as to how 11 we would handle remands and this hub and spoke concept, and 12 I guess I predicted correctly.

13 But having said that, you can take by our silence our 14 agreement with the principles that you've articulated, and I 15 would suggest to the Court that what you're hearing from the 16 other side is not really in a way of trying to efficiently 17 and expeditiously handle these cases as you are required to 18 do as a result of the referral from the JPML panel, but 19 rather to take advantage, take whatever advantage they can 20 in delaying this litigation.

21 And the fact that we got to a trial -- settled at 1:30
22 in the morning on the Monday before trial -- in about 20 23 short months, despite the fact that we disagreed on just 24 about everything is a tribute to you as the transferee 25 court, and the people that you had working with you, to get

1 us to that point.

2 So the fact is that our recommendation, our position 3 paper, is 90 percent squarely with where you are, Your 4 Honor, in terms of how the Court should manage this case 5 going forward. And I think it's in accord with the 6 principles that you have suggested, and we would ask that 7 the Court consider our position seriously as you decide how 8 to go forward.

9 THE COURT: Thank you. I'm considering 10 everyone's position seriously. I think I'm not going to 11 adopt the plaintiffs', I'm not going to adopt the 12 defendants'. I'm thinking that certain things from each 13 position has merit.

14 It is pretty clear whatever I am going to do, people 15 are going to object, appeal, mandamus. They can do whatever 16 they want. I think what I'll probably just do is issue an 17 order, and move it.

18 MR. LYNCH: Judge, Mark Lynch from McKesson.

19 If I could add one more principle to your list, and I
20 associate myself with all of the other remarks of defense 21 counsel here, but one more principle is these cases very 22 sorely need some appellate rulings. And we would -- I would 23 suggest that you consider a 1292(b) certification of the 24 decisions on the motions to dismiss. Those are still alive 25 with respect to the severed and non-settling parties, even

1 though three or four parties did settle.

2 And some appellate clarity on these issues would be of 3 enormous value moving this entire -- this whole 4 constellation of cases forward.

5 One other thing --

6 THE COURT: Or it might bring it all to a 7 screeching halt. So I understand that position.

8 MR. LYNCH: Another thing I'd just like to 9 point out is you did valiant work in getting this case to 10 the eve of trial, there's been an enormous amount of 11 discovery of the defendants which essentially, I think, 12 takes care of all of the discovery at a generic corporate 13 level.

14 There may be a little bit of discovery that's 15 necessary when cases go back to a particular transferor 16 court, and you and the special masters get great credit for 17 that, but the remaining discovery is very geographic 18 specific. It's going to relate to whatever the defendants 19 did in Huntington, West Virginia, or Chicago. And it's also 20 going to relate to how the localities, how those 21 communities, how those governmental entities reacted.

22 So this is a situation where I think the transferor 23 courts are in a very good position to guide the discovery, 24 rather than you and a special master located in Cleveland 25 trying to figure out how the opioid crisis played out in

1 Chicago or Cabell County.

2 This is not typical of most MDLs where you have such 3 case-specific geographic discovery that needs to be done.
4 And while I don't disagree with you that there probably 5 aren't very many judges that are going to welcome having 6 these cases back on their dockets, I think really at the end 7 of the day it's the transferor judge who is going to be in 8 the best position to shape and guide the case, both in terms 9 of discovery and also in terms of dispositive motions, which 10 are going to involve the application of a state law that's 11 different than the law that you've already addressed under 12 Ohio.

13 So I would add those thoughts and those principles to 14 your list of considerations, with all respect.

15 THE COURT: I appreciate that, and I think I
16 generally share that, and I wasn't contemplating that if I 17 remanded a case I would manage the discovery and do the 18 motions. But I don't think it's fair or appropriate, nor 19 would it be productive to send a case to West Virginia or 20 Chicago or California, or whatever, with 22 or 25 defendants
21 and 10 causes of action.

22 That judge won't have a clue what to do and will spend 23 all of his or her time doing what I did. All right? I
24 mean, I would not ask one of my colleagues to do that, and I
25 just don't think that you're going to get a good result.

1 MR. LYNCH: I understand that, Your Honor. In 2 that regard, I think you hit the nail absolutely squarely on 3 the head earlier in your comments, where you said the cases 4 that the plaintiffs have pled can't be tried. That's not 5 our fault, that's with the plaintiffs.

6 THE COURT: Well, I can say this is the kind 7 of case I'm going to send, you know, I'm inclined to send to 8 West Virginia or Chicago, and if you're willing to 9 streamline your case to that you've got it. If not, I may 10 not do it.

11 MS. MAINIGI: Your Honor, may I add one more
12 point to the mix? I apologize.

13 THE COURT: All right.

14 MS. MAINIGI: With respect to the location of 15 the cases, Your Honor, as an Ohio corporation, I do think 16 that one of the points I need to make, and I think this is 17 shared, is that if we are really going to move this MDL
18 along, if these next set of cases are really going to serve 19 as bellwethers or representative cases that can advance 20 resolution here ultimately, get us closer to settlement, 21 none of the cases that get remanded or get put up for 22 discovery should be from Ohio.

23 Ohio has been litigated, the case law has been 24 decided. We don't think it would be appropriate to have any 25 more cases from Ohio in the next set of cases that go

1 through discovery.

2 Now, for some of the jurisdictions there's very 3 specific reasons. For the city of Cleveland, as everyone
4 recalls, there were great discovery abuses that occurred 5 that led to the city of Cleveland no longer being in the mix
6 and put behind Track 2 with respect to moving forward.

7 But the general principle that the MDL, if it's going 8 to be successful, ought to be taking into account law from 9 other jurisdictions so that there is ultimately movement in 10 the entire MDL I think rings true.

11 I think that there's also a concern that if it is Ohio 12 again that is in the mix or is one of the cases in the mix, 13 we've got a concern that particular counties, cities, are 14 really going to reap the benefits that come early with a 15 bellwether that is not being shared by other jurisdictions 16 all over the country.

17 So I did want to note that principle as one that 18 underscores our proposal.

19 MR. LYNCH: And as a non-Ohio-based 20 corporation, we would agree with that as well.

21 THE COURT: I've been giving that a lot of 22 thought. On the other hand, a great deal of work was done
23 to gear up for this trial. I also have Track 1B. All 24 right. There needs to be a pharmacy case, and in my view 25 pharmacies as dispensers. That was specifically not

1 developed here. It needs to be developed, and there has to 2 be a trial worked up on that.

3 So the question is which case should that be, and I've 4 got some ideas.

5 MR. STOFFELMAYR: Your Honor, could I address
6 that? Because I think that's probably uniquely important to 7 us, of course.

8 You know, I completely agree that that is a theory of 9 liability that has not been worked up, and that will be an 10 enormous project to work that up. It is a completely 11 different theory of liability involving obviously different 12 facilities, different witnesses, different regulatory 13 regime, both at the state level and the federal level. In 14 many ways a much bigger case and much more complicated case 15 because it is a more granular theory of liability than what 16 we saw on the distribution side.

17 There are a lot of cases that have pled that theory of 18 liability. As you know, it has not been pled so far in the 19 Track 1 complaints. There's a motion to amend pending. It 20 has been pled in the Track 2 complaints and, rough numbers, 21 I want to say half the cases in the MDL, not all; but maybe 22 it is more than half. I don't want to promise I've got the 23 ratio right.

24 So there are plenty of opportunities to do that that 25 are consistent with, I think, some of the thoughts I think

1 you heard articulated, that it would be useful to the 2 parties to explore cases under different legal standards, 3 not just to revisit Ohio law.

4 But the other thing that I think is really important, 5 thinking about Track 1 specifically, and this probably would 6 include Cleveland and Akron, is that my experience and I
7 think most people's experience with how a bellwether process 8 is really useful, is getting a verdict is in some senses the 9 least important part of the process.

10 It can be important, obviously, but what a lot of 11 people would say, and I have certainly heard MDL judges say, 12 is forcing the parties to work a case up and get it ready 13 for trial is what is truly educational in forcing parties to 14 learn their case, really think about what is the expert 15 actually going to say about this, not just hypothetically
16 what I think an expert could say. What does this case 17 really look like.

18 And from that perspective, whether we're talking about 19 a pharmacy case or a distribution case or a manufacturer
20 case, we already know probably most of what there is to know 21 about the case brought by Cuyahoga and Summit Counties. We 22 know nothing about what a case looks like if it's brought by 23 a large coastal city. We know nothing about what one of 24 these cases would look like brought by a rural community.
25 We know nothing about what one of these cases would look

1 like brought by an Indian tribe.

2 And all of these are going to look very different in 3 important ways. From one perspective you could say, well, 4 the liability theory is the same no matter what. The way
5 the opioids crisis has affected communities varies 6 enormously, the way prescription pills rather than illicit 7 heroin plays into that crisis varies enormously by 8 community. And perhaps most importantly, what communities 9 have done to respond to the crisis, the kinds of services 10 they have provided and want to provide varies enormously.

11 So if we think of the bellwether process as an 12 educational process for the parties not just to get the 13 verdicts, but to learn cases and learn about cases, very 14 little is gained by redoing the same case over and over 15 again, and a lot could be gained with no real loss in time 16 by moving to other cases in other jurisdictions.

17 MR. WEINBERGER: Your Honor, specifically to 18 address Mr. Stoffelmayr's comments, he must have read our 19 position paper, because our position as to how the cases 20 should proceed and which ones should be remanded does 21 exactly what it is that Mr. Stoffelmayr is suggesting in 22 terms of it exposing this litigation to a whole wide variety 23 of different plaintiffs and different causes of action.

24 As to the claim that our adding dispensing claims 25 somehow will create this complex long litigation, our

1 complaints have always included factual allegations
2 regarding dispensing conduct. And the amended complaint 3 that we have filed gives more clarity to how it is the 4 dispensing claims should proceed.

5 And we are prepared to put together a discovery plan 6 with respect to those dispensing claims that I think will 7 demonstrate that we can -- we don't have to spend years 8 working up that case, that it very much what has been worked 9 up includes factual facts and discovery that will apply to 10 the dispensing claims.

11 And then finally, with respect to the comment about 12 the city Cleveland and its alleged abuse of discovery, I 13 can't leave that comment unaddressed.

14 In this litigation, city of Cleveland has produced 15 almost 700,000 documents, 5.5 million pages of documents.
16 And we continued on behalf of the city of Cleveland to 17 produce discovery even after Cleveland was severed from this 18 case, so much so, Your Honor, that eight of the city of 19 Cleveland witnesses who were deposed by the defendants were 20 on the defendants' witness list for purposes of this trial.

21 So to suggest that Cleveland and Akron should not go 22 forward as a bellwether based upon this allegation with 23 respect to the city of Cleveland just does not hold true.

24 THE COURT: Well, to be fair, I don't want to 25 have a long discussion of this, but there were some very

1 significant problems in discovery that led to Akron and 2 Cleveland being severed out, and that's a fact. That's why 3 we had to do it.

4 So no one is disputing that the city of Cleveland and 5 the city of Akron produced a large number of documents and 6 there were a large number of witnesses being deposed, but 7 there was a problem with the timeliness.

8 MR. WEINBERGER: Much of which, Your Honor, 9 was rectified subsequent to the severance.

10 THE COURT: I guess I wasn't tracking it then.

11 MS. WU: Your Honor, this is Laura Wu from 12 McKesson. If I could speak very briefly to the Cleveland 13 issue.

14 As you may recall, Cleveland was seriously far behind 15 in discovery, threatening the schedule that you had put in 16 place for the bellwether trial. The defendants were 17 prepared to seek relief, specifically including the 18 dismissal of Cleveland's claims based on the egregious 19 conduct that went forward over a period of months in 20 discovery, specifically including Cleveland's repeated 21 denial of the failings defendants had worked very hard to 22 uncover.

23 Defendants were prepared to move and, counseled by the 24 special masters, held off to allow Your Honor to have a 25 solution to allow the bellwether trial to go forward.

1 As you will also recall, you ruled that Cleveland was 2 essentially put in the penalty box for its conduct,
3 Cleveland could not go forward for trial until after Track 4 2, and there's no reason to change your prior rulings.

5 THE COURT: Well --

6 MR. PIFKO: Your Honor, Mark Pifko from Baron
7 & Budd, on behalf of Cleveland. I would like to address 8 some of the comments that have many made.

9 First, it cannot be disputed, setting a trial date as 10 soon as possible would further the interests of resolving 11 this case.

12 As you know, on October 18th we had the first global 13 mediation with the distributors, and what drove that October 14 21st trial date. Cleveland and Akron are undoubtedly, even 15 if there were issues, the next plaintiffs that are ready to 16 be tried in this litigation.

17 Now, Cleveland was a little delayed, but we've 18 completed our production. We had an independent consultant 19 verify the collection. That was completed in February. And 20 the document production was completed in March.

21 And as Mr. Weinberger said, many of Cleveland's 22 witnesses were on the trial list. About ten percent of the 23 defendants' document exhibits in the trial were from 24 Cleveland. So the notion that Cleveland wasn't ready or 25 should be punished is false.

1 And I also want to add that when the severance order 2 was issued there was the notion -- that was entered in 3 February of this year, there was the notion that we were 4 going to set and start discovery in CT-2 and that we were 5 going to actually have a CT-1 trial, and neither of those 6 things have happened to date.

7 So the reason -- if we were going to have a CT-2 8 trial, we had started discovery back then, then sure it 9 might make sense -- we might be having that trial now, and 10 it might make sense to have Cleveland after that. But we 11 never had that trial, and there hasn't been any discovery 12 produced in CT-2, so the reason for that sentence just 13 doesn't hold water anymore.

14 And again, I think it would be in the best interests 15 of the entire litigation to move forward with the 16 distributor case trial by Cleveland and Akron, who are 17 completely ready to go.

18 MS. WU: Your Honor, Laura Wu from 19 McKesson --

20 THE COURT: I don't want to do a lot of back
21 and -- there were problems with Cleveland, everyone knows 22 that. That's why Cleveland was severed out. So I don't 23 really need to revisit. I know the history. I'd rather not 24 have more of a public airing on that.

25 All right. Look, I believe that what should be done

1 is there should be a focused trial against the big three 2 distributors, a focused trial against the manufacturers, and 3 a focused trial against the pharmacies as whatever the 4 pharmacies do. Some of them distribute, all of them
5 dispense; whatever, the pharmacies.

6 And I think there should be only one or two causes of 7 action. There's public nuisance. I'm not sure if you need 8 conspiracy. I don't know conspiracy, to do what. But in my 9 view, it's public nuisance is the main one.

10 I don't really care where those are tried. They 11 should be representative. The parties seem to agree 12 that -- Track 2 is Huntington and Cabell County, so that's a 13 logical place to have one of them. All right? I don't think 14 it matters which one. All right?

15 Chicago, everyone is talking about Chicago. That's 16 been worked up, there have been motions. You know, there 17 are apparently local ordinance causes of action, that makes 18 that simple and streamlined. That's a logical one.

19 Plaintiffs suggested California. I think it makes 20 sense that San Francisco County and state, I think it makes 21 sense to have one on the west coast. Again, it should 22 be -- I don't care who it is.

23 And then I want to have one tribe case, and it seems 24 to me rather than doing that I would logically go with the 25 Cherokee Nation. It's far and away the largest tribe. If

1 we're going to do one, I don't think it should be a real 2 small one. We might as well do a large one that probably 3 covers -- that's a logical one to do.

4 So that's four cases. Now, potentially there could be 5 one case in -- I could do one. All right? Potentially I 6 could do -- Track 1B could be the pharmacy case, because we 7 severed all the pharmacies. They were all severed early, 8 and then Walgreens was severed at the end, when the 9 distributors all settled. So potentially I could do that.
10 I don't have to, but I'm not trying to just export all the 11 trials, but that's one I could do.

12 It's logically still there. It could be Summit and 13 Cuyahoga County against the pharmacies, and I'm willing to 14 do that. It seems to me that -- I was thinking of a four or 15 five-week trial, and the plaintiffs were suggesting it could 16 be done in the spring. I don't think that's realistic. I 17 think it would be -- I was thinking of roughly a year, like 18 next October, because I was looking at the kind of schedule 19 we had. It seems to me that would be doable, but again, I 20 don't have to do it.

21 But if we're going to do that there wouldn't be any 22 more severances. These would be the cases. There wouldn't 23 be a West Virginia Track 1-BC, there would be a West 24 Virginia case. It would be just say hypothetical against 25 the big three distributors, and one or two causes of action,

1 and that would be it. The other causes of action would be 2 dismissed and so would the other defendants, and that's what 3 would go forward, and that judge would manage it.

4 We do one in Chicago. I mean, the plaintiffs have 5 suggested manufacturers only Chicago. Distributors, big 6 three distributors only in West Virginia. That's fine.

7 They suggested California, I think we might as well
8 have one there. I don't know who the defendants are. I do 9 not suggest sending to a California colleague 25 defendants
10 and 10 causes of action.

11 And then we need a pharmacy case. If that's the one 12 to go to California, if the parties want to send it to 13 California, fine. As I said, I think we need -- and then we 14 have a tribe case, and I guess the tribes are sort of -- I 15 haven't figured out which defendants and which causes of 16 action fit for the Cherokee case. The parties can figure 17 that out.

18 So that's sort of where I'm coming from.

19 MS. MAINIGI: Your Honor, if I may. I think 20 it's extremely valuable to get your thoughts on these issues 21 because we haven't had the benefit of them yet. One 22 suggestion and one comment.

23 The suggestion that I have is there was not much 24 opportunity to really meet and confer prior to today about 25 our respective proposals, just given the timing of when

1 people sent them in, and there just wasn't a lot of 2 communication about it last week.

3 I would suggest with the benefit of having seen each 4 other's proposals, as well as the guidance Your Honor has 5 provided, that perhaps we take some more time, just a short 6 amount, to see if we collectively can present a plan to you 7 that has the sign-off of both the defendants as well as the 8 PEC, just as a way to present Your Honor with something that 9 incorporates your ideas as well as incorporates the major 10 elements that each side cares about.

11 I think that that certainly would be possible given 12 some of the comments that you have made, and so I would 13 suggest we take the time to do it.

14 One minor note that I'll just make for the record, 15 with respect to the Cherokee Nation case that you mentioned, 16 I do think that that is an extremely complex case that could 17 bog down. A lot of discovery in that --

18 THE COURT: Then maybe it needs to be -- I'm 19 suggesting that be streamlined, too. I don't want to send 20 to my colleague in Oklahoma 25 defendants and 10 causes of 21 action. I mean, as I said, I'm not -- look. Any of my 22 colleagues could do what I did. I'm not saying they 23 couldn't do it. I think it would be unfair and 24 counterproductive.

25 It seems to me that that's something for me to do in

1 conjunction with the parties, is send a case which we all 2 know can be tried -- okay? Not an "if" -- rather than 3 sending one which we know can't be tried. Why would we do
4 that. I mean, it just doesn't make sense. If we all know 5 the case can't be tried, why send it, and say, Judge, we 6 know you can't try this case, it's up to you to figure it 7 out. Do what Polster did over the course of a year.

8 MS. MAINIGI: Your Honor, with respect to 9 Cherokee Nation, it's the difficulty is really the opposite 10 to some extent, in that the discovery for any one defendant
11 even of Cherokee Nation would involve discovery of 14
12 different counties in Oklahoma, 50 different law enforcement 13 agencies in Oklahoma.

14 So the plaintiffs' side, the discovery defendants need 15 to do of the plaintiffs' side is quite complex and would 16 take a tremendous amount of time.

17 But I hear what Your Honor is saying --

18 THE COURT: Well, I hadn't focused on that, 19 and that's a good point.

20 MS. MAINIGI: And I requested that you give us 21 time to continue to meet and confer on this, and perhaps 22 present a unified plan.

23 MR. SOLOW: Your Honor, Andrew Solow for the 24 manufacturers --

25 THE COURT: Let me -- it's the Cherokee

1 Nation, the people reside in that, but they don't -- you are 2 not going to be doing discovery of counties, would you?

3 MS. MAINIGI: Well, with respect to costs, 4 Your Honor, for example, and causation type of issues, as 5 well, those would involve the 14 counties and 50 different 6 law enforcement agencies.

7 THE COURT: Well, the entities, the Cherokee
8 Nation is bringing the case and seeking damage on its own 9 behalf. So any expenses, whatever, it comes from the 10 Cherokee Nation. It wouldn't be through any county or 11 county facilities. It would be here is what the Cherokee 12 Nation claims that they've spent addressing the opioid 13 crisis for its members.

14 MS. MAINIGI: But --

15 THE COURT: They provide healthcare and 16 services.

17 MS. MAINIGI: But the Cherokee Nation has also 18 received assistance from those 14 counties and law 19 enforcement, so they would certainly be a basis for 20 discovery. I'm not saying they would be parties, Your 21 Honor, obviously these counties and law enforcement
22 agencies. My point is simply, and I didn't mean to get us 23 bogged down on this, but --

24 THE COURT: Look. I picked them because 25 they're the largest.

1 MS. MAINIGI: They're the largest, and 2 unfortunately they're the most complex.

3 The other complication, Your Honor, with the Cherokee 4 Nation is we already have a ruling in Oklahoma. So to the 5 extent that we are trying to explore the laws of other 6 jurisdictions in an effort to cut a wide swath here on 7 rulings on case-specific workup related to other 8 jurisdictions to help bring about resolution, I'm not sure a 9 case in Oklahoma, where there's already been 10 substantial -- there's been a substantial ruling and 11 abatement money going back to the state of Oklahoma, which 12 will benefit the Cherokee Nation.

13 THE COURT: Was there a settlement in Oklahoma
14 for abatement money?

15 MS. MS. MAINIGI: There was a judgment in 16 Oklahoma, in the Oklahoma case, Your Honor, and two 17 settlements, Your Honor.

18 THE COURT: Oh, right.

19 MR. OHLEMEYER: Your Honor, if I may.

20 THE COURT: Yes.

21 MR. OHLEMEYER: Bill Ohlemeyer for the 22 Cherokee Nation.

23 With respect, I disagree with most of that. It's not 24 as complicated as that. It is a claim, as you have said, 25 brought on behalf of the Cherokee Nation which provides for 1 its members healthcare, law enforcement, social services.

2 It is as if it were a self-contained, as it is, sovereign
3 unit within the state of Oklahoma.

4 It doesn't require discovery of 50 different -- or 12
5 different counties or 50 different agencies. It's a case 6 brought by a sovereign, just as if the state of Oklahoma had 7 brought a case on its behalf, which it did.

8 It's a relatively simple case. There's only six 9 defendants in the case.

10 THE COURT: Who are the defendants?

11 MR. OHLEMEYER: The defendants are McKesson, 12 AmerisourceBergen, Cardinal; then Walmart, CVS, and 13 Walgreens, each of which is also a wholesaler as well as a 14 retail dispensary.

15 MS. MAINIGI: Your Honor, with respect to a 16 representative tribal case, the parties seem to be in 17 agreement that the Fond Du Lac case, which is in a brand new 18 jurisdiction, would be an appropriate case to work up. I 19 don't think we need two tribal cases worked up, and I think 20 Fond Du Lac would have much greater, wider applicability and 21 could be done much more quickly.

22 MR. SOLOW: Your Honor, we also believe 23 whatever the tribal case selected, it should remain in 24 federal court. That is something that the manufacturers and 25 defendants put into our proposal.

1 THE COURT: I wasn't suggesting it go to state
2 court.

3 MR. SOLOW: Well, Your Honor, there could be 4 an issue of a motion for remand back to state court, so we 5 think it should be a condition that whatever the tribal case 6 is --

7 THE COURT: Well, that's for sure. I'm not 8 remanding a case to federal court that's going to go to 9 state court. I don't think anyone is contemplating that.

10 MR. SOLOW: Great, Your Honor.

11 Next point on the city of Chicago, or otherwise known 12 as Chicago 1, the manufacturer case, it looks like the 13 parties are in agreement about that case as the manufacturer 14 case.

15 Your Honor, however, it strikes us as an odd request
16 from the plaintiffs that is not aligned with Your Honor's 17 principles, particularly the third one, that a case where 18 rulings have already been made by the district judge and 19 discovery rulings have already been made by the magistrate 20 court for Your Honor to then hold on to the case, decide 21 issues of amendments and discovery, and then send it back 22 for dispositive motions.

23 Our view is that case in an effectively use of your 24 resources would be remanded right now to that judge and that 25 magistrate who already have experience. It simply doesn't

1 make sense, Your Honor, for you to be now making rulings
2 after another judge, and then when it's already contemplated
3 in both sides' parties that the trial judge will be making 4 additional rulings.

5 THE COURT: Well, if a case is remanded to 6 Chicago, the judge in Chicago will be handling the case.

7 MR. SOLOW: That's our view, it should be 8 remanded now. The PEC's proposal is that first there should 9 be additional discovery and motion practice here before 10 remand.

11 THE COURT: Well, my basic thought is that if 12 I remand the case I remand the case, and that judge handles 13 it the way he or she sees fit. If they want some help they 14 can ask for help, but it's that judge's call.

15 The only issue would be what to do if they were 16 fully-briefed motions that exist now, whether I should 17 decide them or that judge should, and there are probably 18 good arguments either way.

19 But I wasn't proposing that I would remand the case to 20 a judge in Illinois or California and I would somehow be 21 doing it.

22 MR. SOLOW: No, Your Honor, not to suggest you 23 would be doing anything after remand. Our point is that the 24 remand should happen immediately. Nothing further needs to 25 be done now. Any remaining motion practice or discovery can

1 be done after remand.

2 THE COURT: Right, but the issue is what if 3 there is a fully-ripe motion right now.

4 MR. SOLOW: Candidly, Your Honor, it doesn't 5 make sense under your principle three for you or your 6 special masters to do it when there is a federal judge who 7 has already ruled on motion practice in that case and a 8 magistrate that's already made discovery rulings. They're 9 well familiar with the case --

10 THE COURT: You are talking about the Fond Du 11 Lac case.

12 MR. SOLOW: -- and could adjust easily --

13 THE COURT: It is my understanding that the 14 only defendant in that case is Mallinckrodt, and that 15 doesn't make sense to send a case with only one defendant.

16 MS. MAINIGI: We're double-checking, Your 17 Honor, but I don't think that's correct. There's two Fond 18 Du Lac cases, I think.

19 MS. SINGER: Your Honor, this is Linda Singer
20 with the PEC.

21 While they are checking on the Fond Du Lac case, just 22 to speak to the city of Chicago issue, there are 23 fully-briefed motions pending before Your Honor. And the 24 reason that we have suggested that you handle certain 25 discrete issues is because they are issues that you have

1 previously considered and ruled on, and that are no
2 different for the city of Chicago. For instance, the 3 manufacturers' responsibility for their distribution of 4 controlled substances.

5 The Mallinckrodt case was not before the city of 6 Chicago court when it was transferred here. That's an issue
7 Your Honor knows well.

8 And again, consistent with your principles of using 9 your resources and leveraging the knowledge you have 10 developed over this case and the rulings you have made, and 11 moving cases quickly and efficiently to remand courts, it 12 seems to make sense for those discrete issues to be decided 13 by Your Honor so the case goes back to a federal district
14 court --

15 THE COURT: That may make sense. If I have 16 ruled on the same argument, then it probably makes sense for 17 me to rule on at least that motion or that portion of it, 18 because for consistency.

19 MR. SOLOW: Respectfully, Your Honor, we 20 disagree.

21 THE COURT: That's ultimately for me to 22 decide. I can do it either way. The law permits either 23 one, and I can do it. I'll figure that out.

24 Again, I'm not going to -- a tribe case with only one 25 or two defendants would not be a good case to remand.

1 MS. MAINIGI: The Minnesota Fond Du Lac case
2 does have multiple defendants, Your Honor, but I come back 3 to the idea that this is too important for us to kind of 4 decide on the fly.

5 THE COURT: I'm just saying as a matter of 6 principle, I'm not going to remand any case --

7 MS. MAINIGI: I understand.

8 THE COURT: If West Virginia only had one or 9 two defendants, I wouldn't be considering it.

10 MS. MS. MAINIGI: But I do think it would be 11 valuable, Your Honor, for us to get a little bit more time 12 to see if we can reach agreement on some of these issues, 13 with your guidance.

14 MR. DELINSKY: Your Honor, Eric Delinsky on 15 behalf of CVS.

16 I would just like to second Miss Mainigi's motion for 17 the opportunity now to a take breath after having heard your 18 thoughts and to have a meaningful meet and confer with 19 plaintiffs. I think we now understand what your vision for 20 this is, at least I for one, I didn't before, and I do now, 21 and I think that is a logical next step. And then set a 22 time to report back to you in one form or another.

23 MR. RICE: Your Honor, Joe Rice on behalf of 24 the PEC.

25 If Your Honor is going to delay this any further, put

1 a strict deadline, a strict timeline on it. Because we've 2 had three or four calls with Professor McGovern on the 3 remand process, and people always said we need 30 days to do 4 this or 45 days to do this.

5 That is not needed here. If they want to take a 6 couple of days --

7 THE COURT: This is what I am going to do.
8 I'm going to give the parties a week from today, noon on 9 next Wednesday. Today is the -- that's the 13th. Noon on 10 Wednesday, November the 13th.

11 And what I want, I want a distributor case, I want a 12 manufacturer case, I want a pharmacy case, and I want a 13 tribe, Native American tribe. All right? And I want you to 14 agree on those four cases and where they should be, which 15 ones they are.

16 If you all can't agree I'll pick one, and I'll make 17 it. Okay? And I will dismiss claims. If you all can't 18 agree, I'll do it myself. And you want to all appeal to the 19 Supreme Court, be my guest.

20 But the cases will be streamlined and they'll be 21 focused, so any judge who gets that case will know how to 22 try it. And once we do that, I'll figure out if there are 23 dispositive motions fully briefed in any of those cases, 24 whether I should decide them.

25 You can give me your opinion on that. Again, that's 1 my call to make.

2 MR. SHKOLNIK: Judge Polster, Hunter Shkolnik
3 on behalf of Cuyahoga County.

4 THE COURT: Yes.

5 MR. SHKOLNIK: With respect to the potential
6 four cases, would that also include the potential CT-1B, 7 which is fully worked up here, or --

8 THE COURT: As I said, any of these cases 9 could be -- well, the only one, the only one that could be,
10 Summit and Cuyahoga would be the pharmacy. Obviously it 11 can't be the manufacturers, it can't be distributors, and it 12 can't be the Native American tribe, Mr. Shkolnik.

13 So potentially number three could be -- I mean, I
14 threw it out as a possibility. It's there, the case exists 15 now. It's actually on my docket. That's essentially 1B
16 with some streamlining. So that could be one. I'm not 17 saying it has to be, but it could be, it could be 1B. And 18 I'm obviously willing to do it.

19 The point of this, as I say, everyone knows an MDL
20 Judge can only try cases in his or her district absent full 21 consent, so I could do the pharmacy case.

22 So the idea would be these would be streamlined, it 23 would be only those defendants and those causes of actions, 24 and other defendants and causes of actions would be dropped, 25 and those cases would be tried.

1 And I'm confident that I could identify with the MDL 2 panel's help three or four judges in other jurisdictions to 3 expeditiously try these cases. And I think it would be -- I 4 know I can do it if they're streamlined and focused, because 5 I can find colleagues in conjunction with the JPML to do it.
6 And they would understand that the trial would need to be 7 expeditious, obviously giving fair time for discovery, but 8 expeditious. That's the whole point.

9 So hopefully you can use this discussion and what the 10 Court has said to come up with this. If the parties fail 11 to -- can't come to agreement, you know, I guess give me 12 your competing proposals, and in very short order I will 13 issue an order, and that will be -- obviously it will be 14 suggestion, because any remand, I can't remand -- as 15 everyone knows, I cannot remand a case on my own.

16 I can make a suggestion of remand to the panel. I
17 would think they'll agree to it, but I only have authority 18 to make a suggestion.

19 MS. MAINIGI: Your Honor, thank you for the 20 additional time. I think that will be helpful, and we will 21 work diligently during that time.

22 THE COURT: I have the best lawyers in the 23 country, and I believe that you can do this. I'll be very 24 disappointed if I just get a proposal from the 25 manufacturers, a proposal from the distributors, a proposal

1 from pharmacies, and a proposal from the plaintiffs. If I 2 do, you know, I'll just come up in very short order with my 3 own, and that will be that, but I believe you can do this.

4 And again, I want you to really spend some time on the 5 Native American tribe cases. It is very important that we 6 have one, but it's got to be doable, and it should be not 7 atypical. Okay?

8 Obviously each Native American tribe is separate.
9 Some are large, some are small. Some are in a very large 10 geographic area, some are probably just in one county. But 11 since we're only going to have one, I want it to be a -- I 12 don't want people to say, well, this is totally 13 idiosyncratic and it is a very bad case to pick.

14 So we can work on that.

15 MR. LAMB: Your Honor, Archie Lamb on behalf
16 of the Tribal Leadership Committee.

17 We've got a really hard-working committee. We have 18 presented the papers outlining the Cherokee as the most 19 likely remand.

20 Your concern -- our concern is relative to the 21 abatement of the smaller tribes. We have an agreement 22 internally to include the abatement should you choose to 23 send it back to Oklahoma.

24 THE COURT: I didn't quite follow that.

25 MR. LAMB: What I'm saying is we have an

1 agreement to make sure that the abatement model covers all
2 tribes, even if it's the Cherokee tribe. The abatement 3 model is the most important for the remote tribes.

4 What we're saying, what I'm saying is the position we 5 presented is the position that we're going to maintain. And 6 I don't want you to be thinking that there are other issues
7 relative to prosecuting the Cherokee case.

8 THE COURT: Clearly one of the theories are 9 going to be public nuisance, and the Court has already ruled 10 that public nuisance -- well, I only did it for Ohio. I 11 don't know what the law is in Oklahoma.

12 In Ohio I ruled that public nuisance liability is for 13 the jury. If the jury finds liability, remedy is for the 14 Court in a subsequent proceeding.

15 And if, say hypothetically, Mr. Lamb, the Cherokee 16 case is picked, if that's the way Oklahoma law works, then 17 the jury would decide public nuisance liability. If the 18 jury determines that there is public nuisance liability 19 against one or more defendants --

20 MR. LAMB: Remember, Your Honor, Muscogee
21 Creek has survived motions to dismiss on Oklahoma law in 22 this court. Those decisions have already been made.

23 THE COURT: I'm just saying if Cherokee is 24 tried and the jury finds public nuisance liability, then 25 that would be for the judge to determine public nuisance

1 abatement for the Cherokee tribe --

2 MR. LAMB: Correct.

3 THE COURT: -- not for the whole country or 4 all the other tribes.

5 MR. LAMB: But I think the metrics of that 6 abatement model is what would apply universally. That's our 7 point.

8 THE COURT: I would hope it might, but again, 9 that would simply be by agreement. The judge would just 10 focus on abatement for the Cherokee Nation and make the 11 decision.

12 MR. LAMB: All right. Thank you, Your Honor.

13 THE COURT: All right. Is there anything 14 anyone else wants to comment on?

15 So hopefully it's just one submission. File it by 16 noon next Wednesday, and then the Court will very promptly 17 issue the appropriate order or orders.

18 MS. MAINIGI: Thank you, Your Honor.

19 THE COURT: Thank you all.
